Dear General Walters:

I received your letter and am delighted to hear that Eloise Page will be able to visit in May. Your support is both welcome and gratifying.

We are doing many new and different things which I believe you will find exciting. If you have not yet had the opportunity to review the revised FM on Army Operations (FM 100-5), I would encourage you to do it. You will find Chapter 7 (Intelligence) to be more than interesting, even revolutionary. With this separate chapter on intelligence, I feel we are on the threshold of "getting it all together."

It's a time of great change here in the Intelligence Center and School. We are reviewing all our training programs, revitalizing their content and placing more demand on the student by means of self-pacing.

Extending on the URSANO Study, we have drafted division battalion and corps group intelligence organizations. We are extending our efforts and changing our emphasis in training TAC CI officers. With emphasis on the three disciplines, TAC CI training is high on the list of things that must be done for the Army to gain advantages on the battlefield.

We're going to develop officers who are experts in OPSEC and deception planning operations. We want to insure our officers know how to orchestrate the three intelligence disciplines. They must be able to mass and fight intelligence and provide the combat multiplier necessary to win that first battle.

Army review(s) completed.

With all of this that we're involved in you're not only welcome to visit us, you're needed. I'm confident that you can be used to great advantage for Army intelligence at this pivotal time. When will you be able to come?

Warm regards.

Sincerely,
